Raida is among the top students in her class. She has great levels of participation in all class activities and seems to enjoy learning English. She is very proactive and loves to participate in all activities. She does well on speaking tests and in speaking games and activities. She has a very clear speaking voice and can speak well.

Raida is able to read at a level above what is required for this class and would benefit from reading harder English books at home. I encourage her to read as much as she can at home in English to help improve her reading skills. She spells very well and is good at word recognition. She has an amazing ability to understand people who speak with different accents. She is learning new materials well and follows along well in class.

Raida volunteers often in class to answer questions or demonstrate her abilities. She has shown a solid grasp of the English material we have been studying.

I am sure that Raida will do very well in English if she continues to do good work as she has been doing.
